2017 Camp Agreement

The Jupiter Outdoor Center (JOC) hopes every student has a safe and enjoyable experience during the camp program. To ensure this, the JOC has certain rules to prevent injury to your child while they are here. We are confident that each participant will have an educational and fulfilling experience; however, we take no responsibility for campers who do not follow these rules. Be aware that any camper, who disobeys these rules, whether or not injury occurs, may be asked not to return to the program.

If a camper becomes ill during a camp session, they should respect other campers by staying home and getting well before returning.

Please read the following release and promise. You and your camper must sign below to show you understand and agree to this release and promise in order to attend this program.

I acknowledge that the camp at JOC is an outdoor program in which I participate at my own risk. I acknowledge that I may be outside in the hot sun for extended periods. I understand I can talk confidentially to one of my counselors if I have a problem of any kind.
